

Vittorio Leonardi

With his shape that he describes as “genetically Italian”, and a mop of curly hair that makes him look like a refugee from a Heavy Metal group, Vittorio Leonardi didn’t always fit in to the sleepy small-town vibe of Welkom. On comedy stages from Polokwane to Cape Town, however, he shines like a star. This young media-junkie has a way of taking any movie or TV show, and showing it to us through his own quirky lens. The results are often as thought-provoking as they are hilarious, and the big guy’s sleepy charm makes him come across as a gleeful little boy.

Vittorio has twice opened for Barry Hilton, once in his home town of Welkom. He has been seen on Comedy Showcase, on the O FM comedy road show and at The Barnyard Theatre, Whiteriver. He is also a regular feature on the club circuit
